

SCHOOL REGULATIONS

REGULATIONS AND CHANGES INCORPORATED IN CALIFORNIA SCHOOL LAW OF 1917

Many important changes in the rules and regulations of the State Board of Education for the government of California public schools have been made and incorporated in the 1917 edition of the school law recently from the press of the state printer. The rules are of general public interest, and changes and additions follow:

Teachers are required to be present and open their school rooms 15 minutes before the time of commencing school.

Primary pupils under eight years must not be held in school longer than four hours. Elementary schools shall remain open, unless otherwise provided by the trustees, from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., with the usual recesses and noon intermissions.

Where special playground supervision is not provided, teachers must supervise the play of pupils of their classes during recess and intermission and before and after school.

Teachers must exercise general inspection of pupils going to and from school, and supervise all school athletic and social activity.

The principal or teacher shall supervise use of buildings and yards, and shall insure their being kept in a neat and proper condition, and provide for their examination daily.

Principals and teachers shall give vigilant attention to the ventilation and lighting of their school rooms. At each recess windows and doors shall be opened for the purposes of changing the atmosphere of the room.

Teachers are authorized to require from parents a satisfactory explanation of pupils' absence from school.

Free text books are the property of the state. County and city school organizations are charged with responsibility for their preservation. Requisition for books must not exceed enrollment, and no additional requisition for books will be honored except on showing of additional enrollment, or upon a showing that a portion of the books in hand are unfit for use.

Responsibility for the sanitary condition of the books in a district rests with the school authorities thereof. Districts are also responsible for the loss of books. Any pupil who wantonly destroys books or school property, or mutilates same, shall be subject to suspension, expulsion or other punishment at the discretion of the school authorities, and such pupil shall repay the district for any loss suffered.

Children not neat and clean on entering school may be sent home to be properly prepared for school. Every school building shall be provided with sanitary equipment for personal cleanliness.

No pupil affected with a contagious disease shall be allowed to remain in school.

Studies pursued and books used in the public schools shall be those prescribed by law and authorized by proper authorities. No teacher shall require or advise any pupil to purchase any books not contained in the authorized list.

Smoking, gambling, frequently saunas, pool rooms or places of public resort, where forbidden by state, city or county laws, profanity, immorality or use of narcotics or intoxicating drinks, on school premises or in other public places shall be sufficient grounds for immediate suspension.

Trustees are required to employ a suitable person, other than a teacher, to do janitor work, except that in a one or two-story school, where a janitor can not be secured, a teacher may be employed to do this work.

Trustees must provide an adequate supply of pure drinking water.

Boards of trustees must designate one teacher as principal, in a school containing two or more teachers.

In addition to the usual school equipment for proper instruction, sanitation and physical comfort and cleanliness, as provided under previous rule, school trustees are now required to provide window panes, window shades or shutters, disinfectants, garbage cans and outside locks on outhouses.

MERCHANTS' BOOSTER WEEK

Last week was circulation Booster Week for the Evening News. This week the Evening News will devote space for boosting the merchants and professional men of Glendale. In doing this the local daily paper will advocate a greater "get together spirit" on the part of the business men of the city. This is an opportunity for the merchants and professional men of the Glendale territory to get more thoroughly in touch with the people who reside in this territory.

NATIONAL CONVENTION

REV. COLE GOES AS DELEGATE TO BIG MEETING IN KANSAS CITY

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, of the Christian church, left today for Kansas City as a representative of the local congregation at the national convention of the Christian churches. He expects to visit his old home in Wichita and to spend Sunday with his former church in St. Louis. He will be away two weeks or more.

The Christian church convention is one of the largest church conventions in the country, and this particular gathering will have many matters of great importance to consider. It is expected that at least 20,000 people will be in attendance. The Christian church is the fifth Protestant body in size in America, its membership numbering over 1,500,000.

BOUND FOR AMERICAN LAKE

On Saturday evening at 8:15 a squad of 125 men from the Seventh district left for American Lake, nine going from San Fernando, including four Glendale boys, Dwight W. Stephenson, Paul Steinmeier, Percy McIntyre and John Dunn, Dwight Stephenson being the captain of the squad. These men are sent to fill the deficiency in the quota which left on October 5, and there are still thirty left to go from this district to make up the required number.

The boys were given a splendid sendoff at San Fernando, a large audience being present while speeches were made at the board headquarters, and then adjourning bodily to follow the boys when they marched to the train, where each was presented with a flag by the people of San Fernando. Dwight Stephenson, Mr. Mattison B. Jones, secretary, and Mr. Wilson, president of the exemption board, made brief speeches before the boys left for the train.

GLENDALE DANCERS

On Friday evening, October 12, a number of Glendale's charming little daughters contributed their talent to a most artistic program given for the piano fund of the new Carnegie library in Hollywood. Their splendid interpretation of many dances reflected much credit on themselves and their teacher, Miss Edith Lindsay, who also contributed two numbers. Marjorie McLouth, Sarah Chandler and Barbara Blech danced a "Cupid's Gavotte." Kathleen and Dorothy Woods danced a "Humoresque" and Barbara Blech and Sarah Chandler repeated their already popular "Gypsy Dance"; Lois Naudain a "Pizzicato Polka," and Miss Edith Lindsay a "French Doll" and "The Dance of the Trojan Maiden." Much comment was made by a most appreciative audience on the professional finish to the entire program.

RED CROSS DIVISION MEETING

On Saturday morning a conference was held at the Alexandria Hotel of all the chapters of Southern California, including some chapters from Arizona, of the Pacific division of the American Red Cross. The Pacific division consists of the states of California, Nevada, Arizona, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine Islands and the Island of Guam. A similar conference of the northern chapters was held last week in San Francisco. The meeting on Saturday was one of great importance and was largely attended, the large ballroom of the Alexandria being filled with representatives from the various chapters. Marshal Hale, the manager of the Pacific division, was present, and Messrs. John L. Clymen, A. B. C. Dorham and W. W. Hush, all of the San Francisco headquarters of the Pacific division. Among those who went from Glendale were Mrs. John Hyde Braly, Mr. T. F. McCrear, Mrs. John Robert White, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Mrs. E. M. Tuft, Mrs. Laurence Ellis and Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker.

FROM POMONA COLLEGE

Miss Evangeline Hunchberger, Miss Mildred Wight and Miss Carol Willisford, all from Pomona College, spent the week end at home with their parents. Mr. Wight, whose home is in Eagle Rock, drove over on Saturday and brought Miss Willisford and Miss Wight back in his machine and took them back to school on Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Hunchberger motored over for their daughter on Saturday and returned to Pomona with her on Sunday evening. The girls all enjoyed getting home and all report a very happy and hard working year at college.

LEWIS LUCKENBACH SUBMARINED

STEAMER FAMILIAR ON PACIFIC COAST VICTIM OF GERMAN SUBMERSIBLE—NINE OF CREW MISSING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
NEW YORK, October 15.—The American steamer, Lewis Luckenbach, was submarined off the French coast and nine of the crew are missing, according to information received by the owners of the vessel. Forty-seven of the 56 members of the crew were landed safely but one boatload is missing. The Luckenbach was bound for Havre with a general cargo. It was a steel screw vessel of 3906 tons and was built in 1903. Until recently the vessel made trips through the Panama canal between New York and Los Angeles.

GERMANS OCCUPY ARENSBURG IN RUSSIA

PETROGRAD WAR OFFICE ANNOUNCES LOSS OF COMMANDING POSITION ON GULF OF RIGA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PETROGRAD, October 15.—The German landing forces at Oesel Island are occupying Arensburg, the capital of that section of Russia, according to formal announcement made by the war office today. This loss to the enemy deprives Russia of her commanding position over the Gulf of Riga and consequently over the Gulf of Finland. The provisional government has decided to lay aside all internal political questions and concentrate all forces on the defense of the country.

NEW YORK, October 15.—Today's World Series game resulted in victory for the Chicago White Sox, the score being 4 to 2.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

GLENDALE LADIES INTERESTED IN ACTIVITIES OF FRIDAY MORNING CLUB

There are thirty ladies in Glendale who were privileged to attend the Friday Morning Club Friday, October 12, 1917, "for members only." Every seat was taken and the knitting needles were playing in and out on gray yarn long before time to call the meeting to order. The president, Mrs. Andrew Stewart Lobingier, in a very interesting manner stated it was just 425 years ago on Friday, October 13, 1492, that Columbus discovered America; that it was a woman who was his helper. Queen Isabella had married at the age of 18, and had her separate allowance. She was saving, and when her husband refused to help Columbus she declared she would help him herself, which she did. Women all have saved and are experts at it. So Friday is a lucky day, and we named our club Friday. Thus we are privileged to live in this beautiful "land of the free," and, with love and gratitude to the giver of all good and to Columbus and his helper, Queen Isabella. We listened to a wonderful musical program by members of the Brahms quintet.

The following Glendale ladies are members of the Friday Morning Club: Mrs. Mary H. G. Braly, Mrs. Luther G. Brown, Miss Rosemary Button, Mrs. Mary E. Everts, Mrs. A. F. Howard, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, Mrs. Ella Meeker, Mrs. George H. Melford, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Mrs. Emma S. A. Peterson, Mrs. Edwin Pierce, Mrs. Claude O. Pulliam, Miss Eulalia Richardson, Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, Mrs. Harry S. Richardson, Mrs. O. E. Selzer, Mrs. Chas. E. Shattuck, Mrs. W. C. Shaw, Mrs. Edwin Virden, Mrs. Sam Webb, Mrs. John Robert White, Mrs. Charles D. Willard, Miss Ellen D. Williams, Mrs. Menzo Williams, Mrs. Willis M. Kimball, Mrs. P. S. McNutt, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Miss Mira M. Bartlett, Mrs. J. W. Dalrymple and Dr. Jessie A. Russell.

RED CROSS MEETING

The local chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a meeting this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braly, 205 North Brand boulevard. The special object of the meeting will be to discuss ways and means for raising money to buy material for the Red Cross, of which there is at present a great deficit. Ideas are especially desired for some means of entertainment by which money can be raised, and tonight is the time to present them to the chapter. The notice printed in the Glendale News on Friday asking for suggestions on this subject has already brought some gratifying results, and many others are hoped for by this evening, so that an unusually interesting meeting is expected.

DINNER PARTY

On Friday evening a very enjoyable dinner party was given by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braly at their home, 205 North Brand boulevard. The house was beautifully decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, while in the dining room pale pink carnations beautified the table. A delicious duck dinner was served. The out of town guests were: Dr. and Mrs. Herman Janss and their daughter, Louise, of Brentwood; Miss Mary Hughes of San Jose, and Mr. Arthur Braly and children of Pasadena. The ladies very loyally gave up their evening to knitting for the soldiers, and every one had an unusually pleasant evening.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. C. P. Brice, of 142 South Kenwood, entertained with a dinner on Sunday in honor of the birthday of Miss Mabel Robbins, 509 Columbus avenue, to whom it was a complete and very pleasant surprise. A beautiful birthday cake, decorated in red and green by the Brice twins, Eleanor and Elmo, held a position in the center of the table. It contained 18 candles. Among the guests were Mrs. Robbins, mother of Miss Mabel, and Mr. Howard McGillis, of Company 9, Los Angeles, C. A. C. On Friday, October 5, the date of her birthday, Miss Robbins had entertained a few of her girl friends at her home. Among the number of pretty gifts which she received was a beautiful hand embroidered parasol from the Hawaiian islands.

Special meeting of Glendale Chamber of Commerce at 7:45 Wednesday. Committees on bond election and Iv-anhoe bridge will report.

THE PEOPLE'S CONCERT

DR. PFEIFFER GIVES EXCELLENT TALK AT COMMUNITY MEETING

The unorganized club of Glendale community singers had another good time at the high school Saturday night, under the auspices of the New Thought Center, which holds its own meetings in Masonic Hall. They were present in force at the high school, and gave evidence that they have a goodly company of singers who help vocalize patriotism.

Mr. Spencer Robinson, the approved leader of the community singing, again called on Mr. F. J. W. Henry to assist, and the accompaniments were played by Mrs. M. E. Myton, clerk in charge of the postoffice station, Broadway and Elmdale avenue.

Dr. H. N. Pfeiffer's eloquent and convincing talk was as interesting as it was instructive. In substance, he called attention to the request of California's Governor that every public gathering should give some expression of patriotism. What the world needs is manhood and womanhood; men, women and children with vision, with imagination and ambition. In a word, to dream, to decide, to dare and to do. We are indebted to such souls for writing our Declaration of Independence, and for all the great things that have made our country what it is, the foremost on earth. He emphasized the fact that community singing would help our city as well as our nation. Such unity of effort always leads to better things. Many good citizens know how to do things well, but do not lend a hand. Community singing will help them to do as well as to know. Get in trim for the universal language of music, Whittier said. It is a fine thing to take off our hat and bow to a high ideal. It is a fine thing to take off our coat and work for that ideal. It is good to get together in such a movement as this community singing, with one thought, if not always one tune. Let us gear up the machinery of our citizenship—the most powerful ship in our nation—stanch and true. Good citizenship recognizes the importance of our own community as part of our nation. Talk it up, lift it up, live it up. When there is an election for any purpose every citizen should vote. So many think "My one vote will make no difference." But one vote has elected a President of the United States, and has decided numerous other questions which changed the policy of nations. Good citizenship means to be upright, downright and keep right; to face every public duty, and does not that include taking such part as we can in the nation-wide community singing movement?

Dr. Pfeiffer is a newcomer, and certainly a desirable addition to Glendale's good working citizens.

Mr. Robinson's informal methods of getting the audience to sing were, as usual, quite successful. He says singing makes people better people as well as better citizens. Saturday he was harvesting a crop on his ranch and was tired and did not wish to come, but he had promised. As soon as he looked in at the door next the stage the audience applauded his coming. He admitted that the singing had made him happy again, and all had a jolly good evening.

Next Saturday night the community singing will be under the auspices of Mrs. Minnette Sherman and several other ladies of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher Association, Mr. Spencer Robinson leading the community singing.

There is a probability that one of the associations of which Tropico is most proud will contribute to the entertainment Saturday night, October 27.

Note—The question has been asked at the Chamber of Commerce why some different church or association is in charge of each concert. The object of that temporary arrangement is to make the movement better known and get as many people as possible interested by the time the Billy Sunday campaign is ended. Then it is hoped that the high school auditorium will not hold all the Glendale vocalists who will be willing to help on with Glendale's community singing and so aid in drawing Glendaleans closer together in every good work of patriotic citizenship.

SPECIAL MEETING

On Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock the regents of the Southern California chapters of the D. A. R. will have a special meeting at the foyer hall of the Broadway Cafe in Los Angeles. This meeting will be followed by a reciprocity luncheon at 12 o'clock. All members wishing to attend who have not already given in their names should notify Mrs. Ocker today.

BUSINESS AND GOVERNMENT

The notice extending the food administration over large numbers of industries and products and the dealers therein means the next long step forward in the complete governmental control of all business. Over many of these businesses, to be sure, the government has no direct authority under the food administration law. It has no direct authority, for instance, to determine retail prices or to supervise retail administration and distribution. But if it does have the authority to issue, to refuse and to revoke licenses, it thereby had the indirect power to do anything else it pleases. If one may do business only under a government license and if the government may refuse or revoke that license, then one in that business must necessarily do everything else the government requires. If the government wishes merchants or producers in any line of business to combine into one organization, it can very easily force them all into it by refusing licenses to those who stay out. If it wishes to delegate to the representative organization of that industry the authority to fix prices and conditions of doing business, it can enforce the rule of that organization by revoking the license of any one who fails to obey them. It can divert, and can force co-operation of others in diverting shipments. It can hold down prices and can force economies which will make those prices profitable. In fact, under this license system the government food administration can do anything it pleases to any business it pleases, and the business has no choice but to co-operate with the government in whatever course it lays out.

Probably most of these powers will not be exercised now, and many of them will never be exercised. If powers are strong enough they do not have to be exercised. The thing desired is done without waiting for compulsion.

But at any rate we are all now actually or potentially under the law of governmental regulation. The age of individualism in business has passed and we may be confident that it will never return.—Monrovia News.

SUBSTITUTION OF OTHER MATERIALS FOR WOOD INCREASING

Twenty-five years ago lumber was regarded as almost as much of a necessity as wheat, while to-day it is steadily being replaced by various substitutes, says a report by the Forest Service on "The Substitution of Other Materials for Wood," just off the press. Disregarding the temporary effect of the war, with its sudden demand for lumber and its great enhancement of prices of many substitute materials, the report points out the tendency in the long run. Each year more steel, concrete, brick, or tile is being used in places where lumber was formerly employed. This is particularly true in cities where enactment of building codes and the development of new forms of construction have created a demand for more durable building material. Shingles have given way largely to composition and tile roofings, wooden sidewalks have been almost entirely replaced by cement, while the modern skyscraper with its steel framework, and stone, brick, or tile walls, occupies the site of some former frame structure. Railroad crossties and mine props are about the only forms of wood which are not affected.

How hard this substitution has hit the lumber business is shown by the Government estimate that the total replacement of lumber in all forms of use is 8,090,000,000 board feet, or 21 per cent. of the lumber consumption of the United States in 1915. The rate of substitution seems to be increasing and is now in excess of 500,000,000 board feet a year. Approximately 70 per cent. of the lumber cut goes into forms of use whose demands appear to be decreasing. Twenty per cent. more goes into strongly competitive fields. In the remaining 10 per cent. of wood uses, there seems to be a much better opportunity for a larger consumption.

Increasing substitution has not, however, lowered lumber prices to the consumer, the report points out. On the contrary they have steadily advanced, while the cost of many substitutes has decreased. Exhaustion of the stands of local timber and discovery of new sources for the manufacture of other building materials are given as some of the reasons for these changes. More than 75 per cent. of the replacement of wood, however, is made in spite of higher initial cost of the substitute.

The effect of the growing use of other materials has been to accentuate competition and decrease profits in the lumber business. As a result of this and other reasons, alternate periods of curtailment and over-production have made the lumber market unstable. This in turn has resulted to the disadvantage not only of the persons whose money is invested in timber and sawmills, but to the many hundred thousands who are dependent upon the lumber industry for their living.

Lumbermen have felt, it is said, the effect of the replacement of their product by other materials, but have not realized the extent to which it had taken place. They have failed to adopt aggressive selling methods and have been unable to supply the consumer with reliable information regarding lumber, because they did not have it. A complicated system of grades is in use which is not intelligible to the average consumer and is even the subject of considerable dispute among the lumbermen.

Manufacturers of other building material have spent large sums of money to obtain reliable information about their products. They have had to advertise extensively to make a "place in the sun" for themselves. Substitutes for lumber are guaranteed to meet specifications which are easily understood by the consumer. These facts, the report states, have combined to make the substitutes increasingly popular.

For lumbermen to hold their markets against competing materials, it will be necessary for them to learn more about the fundamental properties of wood, the author of the report says. They can do this either by scientific research for themselves or by co-operating with agencies already established. Better manufacturing and selling methods, and the development of by-products should enable

SOUTHERN COMMERCIAL CONGRESS

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Fully 20,000 leaders, representing the various industries of the South, are in New York for the opening today of the ninth annual convention of the Southern Commercial Congress and the Southern States Exposition to further cement the business interests of the North and South.

During the week the convention will be addressed by cabinet members, Governors of several states, members of Congress and financial, commercial and agricultural leaders. Tomorrow the diplomatic representatives of the countries now the allies in war of the United States will be the guests of honor at a banquet at the Astor House. The theme of the addresses and responses at the banquet will be international reconstruction. William H. Taft, ex-President, will speak for America. The response of the allies will be made by Ambassador Jusserand, dean of the diplomatic corps.

During the week the annual meeting of the House of Southern Governors will be held. Governors of the 16 Southern states and invited executives from numerous other states attending. The following will also hold special conferences:

Southern Cotton Congress, Cotton Growers' Association, Southern Commercial Secretaries, National Association of Commissioners of Agriculture, composed of the agricultural executives of the state governments of the United States; fifth annual convention of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Southern Commercial Congress, conferences of the American commission on agricultural organization, officers and directors of federal reserve banks, officers and directors of federal farm loan banks, conferences to be participated in by college and university presidents and teachers, superintendents and teachers of public schools.

The officials and delegates of the congress will be officially welcomed by Mayor John Purroy Mitchel at the City Hall Tuesday. Gov. Charles S. Whitman, New York, will tender a reception to the delegates also. The Governor will be assisted by his entire military and executive staffs. A reception and entertainment will also be given for the delegates at Columbia University. In addition to these several official affairs, numerous entertainments and receptions have been arranged at the residences of many of New York's most prominent citizens.

The display of natural and manufactured resources of the states constituting the Southern Commercial Congress has been installed in the exhibition hall of the Hotel Astor. A feature of the exposition is the most comprehensive display ever assembled under the direction of the United States Department of Commerce. The exhibit includes complete interpretation of the eight bureaus of the department.

NEITHER

Said the teacher to the little Hebrew boy: "Ikey, is the world flat or round?"

"It ain't needer vun, teacher," said the boy.

"But what is it?" asked the teacher in surprise. "If it is neither round or flat?"

"Vell, mine fader says it was crooked."—Chicago Herald.

them to make a profit in spite of the limitations on the prices of lumber which may be imposed by competing substitutes.

Even with the increasing substitution for wood, the report points out, there will be need for all the wood in the United States, and more. The total consumption of the country for many years has been far in excess of the growth. Already in many regions timber shortage and high prices have followed the exhaustion of the local supply. From the public standpoint there is a real need for growing forests vastly larger than are now planned for.

HERE AND NOW

It is a wise man who knows his chance the minute it arrives and goes for it with all his might upon the instant, to make the most of it. No mournful post mortem can find the breath of life in an opportunity—for it lives but once, and like our mortal frame, it perishes. Half of success in life's battle is to have the quick, sure vision to perceive, the firm, strong hand to seize the chance when it comes. One man looks on a sandpit and there is nothing in it for him but clay and a pool of muddy water; another comes and finds therein the material for the finest porcelains and other uses that yield him a fortune. One man looks into a back yard from his dusty window and sees only bricks and bottle ends, sagging clothes lines and broken arbors, in a depressing vista. Another in the same squalid area finds the ground plan of a novel, gilding the realism with the romance that blossoms anywhere. One general strikes after slow circumspection and strikes too late; another, after a swift glance over the field, makes up his mind and his swinging blows descend in time. The populace at home throws hats in the air, and when he is seen at last the welkin is rent with cheers for him from those who wish they were in his place. A lucky flip of fortune they declare it; but he knows full well the small role played by luck. He had his wits at hand when he required them. He instantly saw that he must act, and he precisely and inexorably moved at once. Victory was with his readiness and not with the eccentricity of fortune.

In your own life it is useless to refer to the self you will be for any conquest over circumstance. You must face your destiny here in this darkened, uncongenial place, and in the exhausted, dispirited moment that is now. The site and the time of heroic opportunity are not for us to decide. The duty alone is ours.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Personals

Walter Beach, Jamie Shea and J.
T. Beach are planning a dance to be held at the Masonic Temple Friday evening.

Miss Mildred Troy, from Los Angeles, formerly of Glendale, spent the week end with Miss Emily Van Os-dell, 253 North Central.

Miss Ceta Franklin of Long Beach spent the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H.
Franklin, 200 South Central avenue.

Mr. Fred Kennedy of San Diego
was a Sunday guest of Miss Bertha Everly, who is visiting her brother,
Dr. H. V. Everly, of 1634 Oak street.

Miss Anna Woodberry, of 419
South Glendale avenue, left for Jerome, Ariz., on Saturday evening. She has a position in the high school
there as teacher of Spanish.

Mrs. A. M. Beamon, worthy matron, and Mr. Beamon, past patron of the Glen Eyrie chapter, O. E. S., leave on the Owl Monday night to attend the Grand Chapter meeting at Oakland.

Mrs. James F. Bryson, 307 North Glendale avenue, Tropic, is entertaining her mother, Mrs. M. E. Downing, of Oakland, la., as her house guest. Mrs. Downing expects to spend the winter with her daughter.

T. B. McKinnon, a rancher of the San Fernando valley, passed away at the Sisters' Hospital, Los Angeles, October 14, at 9:30 p. m. The funeral arrangements are in the hands of the Seavern-Letton-Frey Company.

Mr. R. G. Cate, of 211 North Glendale avenue, returned last Wednesday from a business trip through the East. Mr. Cate was in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities in the course of his business and was away from Glendale five weeks.

Miss Lillian Jennings, who has been with her cousin, Mrs. Mary Cunningham, at her home, 330 South Orange street, for the past few months, will leave on Tuesday for her home in Little Rock, Ark. Miss Jennings will make the trip by way of Denver.

Mrs. Myra J. Pratt passed away at her residence, 4651 Alger street, Tropic, age 60. She was a native of Michigan. She leaves a husband to mourn her loss. Funeral services will be held from the chapel of the Seavern-Letton-Frey Company October 16, at 2 p. m. Rev. Soper officiating. Interment Forest Lawn cemetery.

Miss Mabel Galey, who, with her mother, Mrs. Ellen Galey, moved from Glendale about three months ago to Ashland, Ore., is visiting old friends here now. Miss Galey was recently called to Imperial by a serious accident suffered by her brother, Clarence, who is now improving nicely. Miss Galey is now the guest of Mrs. E. D. Yard at her home, 127
North Maryland.

Mrs. J. H. Braly and Mrs. Mattison
B. Jones have both been appointed by Mrs. Brainerd, who is the state chairman in charge of the sale of Liberty bonds, to sell the bonds here in Glendale, though their district is not restricted in any way, and they both hope to sell among their friends away from here as well. There is a movement on foot to get out bonds for as little as $5 each, which would greatly increase their sale without doubt.

W. A. Webber of Los Angeles was in Glendale Sunday, the 14th, the guest of Samuel Parker, 415 1/2 South Brand boulevard. It was the sixth anniversary of their departure from Chicago for the coast and their long fellowship of nearly thirty years in Centenary M. E. church, Chicago, made them congenial traveling companions and inclined to celebrate the time of coming. Mr. Webber was a great worker in Centenary, in church, league and Sunday school—a good singer, handy with the organ or piano and always on the "willing" list.
He was much in evidence at conventions, and was at two internationals of the league, and in state work for both league and Sunday school. He was a conference and district official as well. His visits to his old friend are appreciated, and in this way he has gained quite an acquaintance in the First M. E. church.

SALO DESKY SELLS PROPERTY

Salo Desky, who has resided in a very beautiful residence for several years at 139 South Kenwood street, has completed an exchange deal in which he turns over his dwelling house to Dr. Irving L. Smith and becomes the owner of a four-room flat
at the corner of Kenwood avenue and Twenty-seventh street, Los Angeles.
Dr. Smith, who has been occupying rooms in the Los Angeles apartment,
will move with his family Wednesday to the newly acquired property in Glendale, and Mr. and Mrs. Desky will move to the rooms vacated by Dr. Smith. Mr. Desky is still a heavy real estate owner in Glendale, and his residence in Los Angeles is likely only temporary. The consideration in the exchange was about $12,000.

KEEP COMPLETE RECORDS OF U. S. FIGHTERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—A small army of clerks, operating files covering 40,000 square feet of floor space,
soon will be employed by the statistical division of the War Department to keep the individual record of every man wearing Uncle Sam's uniform.

Announcement of the details of this gigantic filing system forcibly brings home the fact that American soldiers will be killed, wounded and imprisoned in Europe. The main purpose of the statistics is to provide an accurate means of checking casualty reports. Incidentally, however, the complete army history of the men will be recorded.

Major J. J. Jones has charge of the central office in Washington. Another will be established in Europe. Weekly reports will be made to central offices by divisional bureaus,
which in turn will receive information from three members of each regiment specially detailed to the work.

Two filing systems will be maintained. One, containing in alphabetical order the names of every man in the service, will serve as a check in referring to the regimental files. The record of each man will contain the name and address of his nearest relative, to serve as an aid to prompt transmission of cabled reports of deaths and serious illness. The War Department also will undertake to give relatives reports of military funerals, location of burial places and information concerning Americans
held in enemy prison camps.

Until the Red Cross came to its aid
the British government experienced great difficulty in handling casualty reports, and by the establishment of this system the War Department intends to avoid similar confusion.

WAR TAKES JOY OUT OF JOY RIDING

LONDON, Sept. 25 (by mail).—
Joy riding in the British Isles is no longer a joy. Gasoline prices took another running broad jump today of 18 cents. The market price is now
$1.09 per gallon.

The newest increase in gasoline is going to hit several millions of the common people. Much of the street transportation is by huge motor buses. Already they are planning on boosting the fares to keep up with the soaring price of gasoline.

The few remaining taxicabs on the streets will be forced to increase their rates. Despite the terrific prices of fuel, their rates of about 16 cents a mile compare favorably with the charges in American cities in normal times. Now, however, they are talking of 20 or 25 cents a mile.

Leading dealers in gasoline explain that the prices were made necessary
by the high insurance rates on tank ships. Insurance on these ships is now 18 per cent of their value for each round trip.

Much of the heavy hauling in the downtown streets of London is being done by steam traction engines in the place of motor trucks.

Whisky has received a knockout blow, but the worst old boozier of the bunch, American made beer, is still taking from the efficiency of our soldiers. Too bad the whole Alcohol family wasn't put on the blink while they were at it. Beer never won a battle nor made a child happier.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

The theme of the morning's discourse at the Baptist church of this city yesterday morning was an appeal to those present at the service to realize the talents that have been given them and to put these gifts to the best possible use, so that at the reckoning day the "well done" may be heard. Rev. Vernon H. Cowser delivered the morning sermon to a good sized congregation, and the words of the morning were well received. The text was taken from Second Corinthians, twelfth chapter and first verse,
"Now concerning spiritual gifts,
brethren, I would not have you ignorant." Rev. Cowser said in part:

"So familiar are we with this chapter that we forget the twelfth chapter, the preceding one, on which the chapter in which our text appears is based. The gift of love may be had by all of God's children. Spiritual gifts refer to talents which have the Spirit of God as their course. Only to the extent in which we recognize that the spirit of God is the source of all power, all reign, all control, will we prove ourselves to be spiritual.
Material gifts, such as healing, apply to the body. I believe that every achievement in surgery, every triumph in medicine, are gifts from God. We should pray that more and more our doctors may be Christian physicians. The greatest things in the war zone are being accomplished by our Christian physicians.

"We should recognize in all gifts
the divine presence of the living God.
Gifts, not achievements, come from God. Most people make the mistake here. There is no talent, however brilliant, no gift how fine, that in its last analysis is not a gift from God.
Since gifts are not achieved, there is no need of the presence of pride in the possessing of them.

"Why should you envy another man because God has given him gifts superior to yours? Remember that his responsibilities are also greater than yours. Take inventories of yourselves. Discover your limitations as well as your possibilities. If you do this, envy and jealousy will have no place in your lives. Envy is to wish you had the gifts which they do possess. We clearly learn from this chapter that every one has one or more gifts. I care not the limitations of your education, your social positions or your office in the church;
you have talents which should be used for the glory of God. In the churches today there are two extremes—the office seeker and the fellow who is too lazy to hold office. Read this chapter in your home, on your knees, and see what your work is."

In the evening Rev. Cowser preached from the subject, "Eternal Security—Can a Christian Be Finally Lost?"

Next Sunday morning Rev. Cowser
will preach from the subject,
"Christ's Call to Go Over the Top."

HOW I AM DOING MY BIT TO HELP AMERICA WIN WAR

(By Bernard C. Dougherty, Roadmaster Chicago, Milwaukee & St.
Paul Railway.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—I am doing
my utmost to help the St. Paul road make a new record in efficiency—not for the sake of promotion, but for victory and for the right to face with a clear conscience and clean hands
those who will return when "the world has been made safe for democracy."

The men working with me realize that the casualty lists will be shorter if we who are back of the trenches
do our part. It is not a case of doing our "bit," but of doing our utmost.
"Be loyal, be economical," is now the slogan. I have told my section foremen and their work train gangs that there is nothing too insignificant in our daily work to be overlooked. I know that where once the humble cross tie cost less than a quarter it now costs almost a dollar. At this time for one of these to be found neglected along the roadside is almost a capital crime. I have ever been on the alert for loose spikes and angle
plates, but I am more watchful now,
and so is every one of the gang.

Our determination to "keep the line open" has been intensified by what we have read of sacrifices that are being made, and must continue to be made, at home and on the firing line. The resources of the road are being well tested. It is the determination of my men to so do our daily work that those who are fighting our battles will not be called upon to make unnecessary sacrifices.

HAPPY AT 100

Centenarians appear to be more numerous than they used to be. Every week we get letters recording the passing of the 100-year mark by some one. We congratulate them all. The most interesting centenarian we have heard of recently is Miss Henrietta Paterson, who was born on May 12, 1817, and who on her recent birthday was presented with a magnificent birthday cake on which twinkled no fewer than 100 miniature candles.
Miss Patterson at the birthday party sat in an easy chair in front of the fine cake, and herself blew out five of the candles as an indication that she contemplated living that number of years longer.—Tit-Bits.

Have you ever heard a horse cry out from pain? It is a strangely pitiful and pathetic cry. Yet it has been claimed that capacity for suffering is largely a human characteristic.

Do You Remember the Time

when, as a small boy, you tried a match on father's celluloid cuffs, just as an experiment? In four seconds there was nothing left but a funny smell. That's what will happen to your automobile if it gets afire. The best antidote is one of my policies.

FASHIONS FOR WINTER

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The bi-annual fashion shows are now upon us, and languid, languishing models are undulating a million dollars' worth of furs and metallic embroidery and brocades all over the smartest shops. All the worth while gowns are there. The Doucet every one will wear. Our old friend Bioret has a pair of stunning ones with Chinese air, and Lanvin, Chlot, Bremet, too, and Paquin also show a few.

Since the Chinese tendency is so pronounced in most all of the imported models the settings for the display of the gowns is all chinked and lacquered and gilded and Chinese goded and rugged up. The models glide around among the carved ivory and teakwood and Chinese porcelain, as much at home as if they had never been outside the Great Wall of China in their lives.

Of course, a few of the models are allowed to sit on the Russian steppes and look like Olga of the Volga in fur trimmed peasant blouses smothered in fur and hectic worsted embroidery, but in fact the similarity between the lines of the loose Russian blouse and the loose Chinese coat, the brilliant embroideries and those of Russia, and the lavish use of fur on both, make it rather puzzling unless you are a connoisseur on Chinese and Russian art, or at least of Russian and Chinese tea, to tell one from the other.

After taking an oblique look and getting a Chinese slant on those different showings of imported models so rich in materials, reputation and price, my advice to the woman who cherishes the wild ambition of leading the mode back home is to wait until she gets there. Then let her hire the village seamstress and have that personage fit all her gowns on some one with a figure the exact antithesis of her own. When she does them everybody will be willing to swear she is wearing a Premet or Doucet model of the very latest.

For the main characteristic of all the new models is their non-fitting properties and the impression that they are built to go on a totally different figure from the one they adorn. Necks are hacked out straight across from shoulder to shoulder, or in loose ovals that pull hither and yon, sleeves are loose and flowing and wide, and the waists, if one may call them such, are guaranteed not to touch the human form at any given point or curve from shoulder to hip. Some of the skirts are caught up at unexpected and awkward angles and indicate that if they hang evenly for any space around the hem they are miserable failures indeed.

On the evening models, where draperies are the piece de resistance as 'twere, the way the gorgeous lengths of metallic and velvet or silken brocades are draped on the foundations of lace or gold and silver gauze would cause the window dresser of the white front dry goods emporium back home to hide his head in shame.

They give the non-elect the disturbing impression that the designer had stood on the near side of the atelier and thrown the drape across the room to the lace swathed form on the other side, and then hid himself frantically to pin the wanton stuff ere it happened to light.

The whole idea of the season sartorially seems to be a striving after the sketchy impressionistic effect, or, as photographers say, one of those artistic blurred portraits that make every one mystifyingly beautiful because they are so misty of detail—we must have a fuzzy outline.

No doubt the superabundance of worsted embroidery that is used lavishly on every material to hand, even on lustrous chiffon velour, will aid in the fuzziness.

If you can just manage to be fuzzy, ill fitted and glittery, with silvery threads among the gold, or a bushel of beads all at the same time, your sartorial success for 1917-1918 is assured.

THE STATE'S METAL RESOURCES

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 15.—Several of the state's best known geologists are now engaged in a study of California's manganese resources, so necessary in making certain metal alloys, according to a report of its activities made by the committee on scientific research of the state council of defense, to Governor William D. Stephens, chairman of that body.

The investigators also are working on metallurgical processes which will make more useful the manganese ores now obtainable, according to the report. Other work of the geological experts which is being carried on in co-operation with the federal government and the California state mining bureau, is the investigation of existing iron resources and other ore deposits in various parts of the state. It was through the recommendation of geologists now engaged in these various lines of investigation work that the special commission on petroleum, headed by Max Thelen, president of the State Railroad Commission, and which recently rendered a report on California's oil resources, was created.

The state council of defense has recommended to Governor Stephens that Chairman Thelen, of the petroleum committee, be sent to Washington to properly present the four congressional committees and departments the real facts regarding California's oil supply.

Some men do not cast their bread on the water until it is so stale that they can't use it themselves.

NEW YORK BANKER LIVES IN TENEMENT HOUSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Columbus O., has the distinction of giving to New York the only man in the entire length and breadth of Manhattan Island who lives below Fulton street. He is Henry L. Doherty, banker, of 60 Wall street. Doherty, who started out in life as a newsboy on the streets of Columbus and who now is a millionaire banker and owner of some 200 public utilities, has a unique home at the corner of Bridge and Broad streets on the lower tip of Manhattan island. Across the street is the old Fraunce tavern, where Washington bade farewell to his troops. To the south is the New York harbor, with its myriad of ferry boats.

Doherty, an indefatigable worker, formerly had a home on Riverside drive, but found that after working until past midnight it was a long trip home in his automobile. So he looked about for a place in the neighborhood where he could sleep until the next day. There are no hotels below Fulton street—save perhaps for a few longshoremen resorts—so at last Doherty discovered an apartment in the tenement house at Bridge and Broad streets. He rented two rooms and had them refitted in keeping with his station in life. The lower end of the island after midnight is practically deserted, only the staccato beat of the night watchman's stick and the chimes of Trinity breaking the still air. Doherty found he could sleep better away from the noise, and after two weeks rented the entire second floor of the building. There are large living rooms and guest rooms and one music room, in which is installed a large pipe organ, where Doherty amuses himself after a hard night's work on the stupendous details of his enormous business.

The apartment is lighted by a system of flood lighting that gives added charm to the rare bric-a-brac and costly fittings. A negro servant acts as cook and general factotum. There is no elevator, but the visitor after a walk up a tiny pair of stairs finds himself in one of the most tastefully decorated and quiet homes in the city.

CALLS FOR WOOD EXPERTS AND FOR AMBULANCE MEN

Two new calls for men for the national service have come to the military intelligence office of the University of California. One call is for a number of experts in woods. These experts will receive salaries of from $1200 to $3000 per annum. They must be thoroughly experienced in selecting woods so as to obtain maximum strength, lightness and resilience. They must be skilled in all the aspects of such work, from the picking out of the trees in the forest on through the kiln drying of the wood, its treatment and its testing. This work has relation particularly to the obtaining of woods for the construction of military airplanes.

The other call is for ninety young men to increase the ranks of the ambulance units now in training at Allentown, Pa., under the command of Capt. Alvin Powell, formerly of the surgical staff of the University of California infirmary. Men between the ages of 19 and 45 will be eligible. Those selected will be enlisted in the medical reserve corps of the army.

Those interested should write to the military intelligence office at the university or call between 11 and 12 any Monday, Wednesday, Friday or Saturday morning in October at 114 California Hall at the University of California.

MORE ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS FOR THE NAVY

The University of California has been asked to recommend 85 electrical engineers who are university graduates and have had at least a year of experience in designing, testing or manufacturing in the field of electrical engineering, for reserve officer commissions as lieutenants of the junior grade in the U. S. navy, to serve for the duration of the war. Any college trained electrical engineers who can meet the requirements are invited to communicate with the military intelligence office at the University of California. A conference hour for men who wish to apply will be held from 11 to 12 on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday mornings throughout October, in 114 California Hall, on the University campus at Berkeley. Men who win these commissions will receive a month's preliminary military training and then be assigned to the nation's fleets, to serve as electrical officers on various ships. Candidates must be between the ages of 25 and 35. For these positions the salary will be from $2200 to $2480 a year, with an additional allowance of $150 for equipment and with various perquisites.

Australia may have failed to put conscription into effect, but it has never failed to share the burden of the war. Its contribution is beyond calculation, both in men and in material. Now it intends that the weight shall not fall entirely on the shoulders of the willing, so it has ordered a tax of 10 per cent to be placed on the taxable income of all unenlisted men who are eligible for service in the ranks. This is only fair to the men who are fighting the battle to keep the enemy from the shores of the commonwealth. Those who have the benefit of the music should help to pay the piper.

LA CANADA

Dr. Smalley, who volunteered and enlisted his services in the medical corps three months ago, received a telegram from Washington Tuesday morning summoning him to Palo Alto at once. The telegram was delayed a week. Dr. Smalley left Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock for camp.

The regular meeting of the Red Cross was held Tuesday afternoon, October 9, in the school building. It was voted that sufficient material would be purchased to furnish each worker with the required head dress. Folding gauze and making hospital shirts are still keeping the ladies busy. All in the valley interested in this work are invited to come. Remember to do your bit.

The organization of children known as the Busy Fingers will begin knitting Thursday, October 18. The Busy Fingers have held no meetings for three weeks, but now that they are well into their school work regular weekly meetings will be held in the school building. The Busy Fingers will now be under the supervision of Mrs. Penfield.

A lovely seven-pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. MacKay Saturday morning, October 6.

The Christian Endeavor Society held its first meeting Sunday evening, October 7. A short business meeting was held, the retiring president having the report of the nominating committee read. The following officers were elected: President, Mr. Wilbur Seright; vice president, Dorothy Lester; secretary, Helen Cooper; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Daisy Seright; treasurer, Lawrence Lester. Following the business meeting the study of the Book of Matthew, Chap. 1, was taken up, under the leadership of Mrs. Scott. The study for the coming Sunday evening will be on the second chapter of Matthew, at 7 p. m. The study plan will be taken up in the following manner: First, read chapter for its content. Second, read chapter for its purpose. Third, make ten observations on it. Fourth, read and note relation to Chapter I. Fifth, study (a) titles in it given to Jesus; (b) their significance. Sixth, study context of O. T. quotations. Seventh, make topical outline of chapter. Eighth, study (a) group of people mentioned; (b) individuals mentioned.

Mr. H. Edwin Cooper enlisted in the quartermaster's department in Camp Kearny, spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday with his wife and parents in La Canada.

Mr. Johnson met with an accident while loading his truck with lemons Tuesday morning. The truck was standing on a hill and the weight of the lemons as they were being loaded on the truck released the brake and the truck started at a rapid rate to back down the hill. Mr. Johnson hurried to stop the truck, but as he sprang on it the truck struck a telephone pole, throwing him violently against the seat. Mr. Johnson drove the truck to his home, not realizing that he was hurt. The doctor was called at once. He was resting easier Wednesday morning.

The Parent-Teachers' meeting was well attended on Friday afternoon. Some plans for the coming year were made for greater efficiency. Mrs. Hayman made a very interesting report of the federation meeting she attended in June. She especially urged that steps be taken toward opening a kindergarten for the wee folks of La Canada. Mrs. A. J. Wallace added much to the interest of the afternoon by her talks upon domestic science, urging all to greater conservation of food.

The Missionary Society of the La Canada Congregational church will meet at the home of Mrs. Holden, on Haskell street, at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, October 17. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Scott.

SUNLAND

The ladies of the Red Cross Society met for work in the room at headquarters Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Rowley spent Tuesday at Downey visiting friends.

Miss B. Bernhard came down from Napa Wednesday to visit with her uncle, Mr. William Bernhard, and her brother, Mr. George Bernhard, Jr., for a few weeks.

About 37 from Sunland attended the Billy Sunday meetings last Saturday evening.

Sunland received quite a shock Monday when Mr. Riddell took possession of the hardware store and made the announcement he was going to move it to Van Nuys. It is surely a loss to Sunland, as this stock of fixtures was considered the finest in Southern California. What is Sunland's loss is Van Nuys' gain. All we can say, we are sorry to lose Mr. Riddell and the stock.

One of the pleasant social features of the week was a birthday party given by Master Barker Bates October 10. Barker, to celebrate his seventh birthday, invited seven of his little friends to spend the afternoon from 2 to 5 with him. His mother served dainty refreshments, and all enjoyed blowing out the seven candles which decorated the birthday cake. Those present were much pleased with the afternoon's fun.

Young people, old people, children, everybody, save up your pennies for a good time at the Halloween social to be given by the Ladies' Aid and Christian Endeavor October 30, at 7:30 p. m., at Rowley's Hall. All kinds of fun.

Mr. Allen Richardson's trucks are running night and day to get the grapes and peaches from Sunland to the market. The late cling peaches raised in this valley are above the average and are in great demand on the market, always bringing good prices.

Miss Grace Adams of San Diego is visiting her aunt, Mrs. William Blumfield, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Spait of Los Angeles have purchased the five-acre lemon orchard on Palm avenue of Mr. A. D. Kirschman; consideration, $5500. In exchange, Mr. Kirschman took in a $3500 residence on Fifty-sixth street, Los Angeles. The trade was made through the Huse Agency. Mr. and Mrs. Spait expect to build a beautiful commodious home on the five acres and come to Sunland to live. We are glad to welcome such people as citizens. The ranch has on it a beautiful dwelling site and is in every way an ideal place for a pleasant home.

The Ladies' Aid of the First Baptist church will meet for work Thursday, October 18, at the room in the postoffice. Visitors welcome.

Mr. C. B. Morgan entertained Mr. Trueblood, from Pasadena, Sunday.

LA CRESCENTA

Mrs. H. E. Bruce entertained Mrs. Eva Blinn, Mrs. Irene Leighton, Mr. A. J. Poiner, Mrs. George Eastin and Mrs. Edith Blinn, author of "Ashes of My Heart," who is traveling from coast to coast in a "little old Ford," without a breakdown.

Miss Newton of Santa Ana, sister of Mrs. Talmadge, is trying out the climate of Crescenta for rheumatism, from which she suffers.

Lee Thompson, son of Mrs. Mary Thompson, has been made corporal of his company at Camp Lewis, American Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Thomas celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Thursday. In the afternoon they entertained their Los Angeles friends and Crescenta and nearby friends in the evening.

The La Crescenta Water Company held its annual stockholders' meeting on Tuesday and an entire new board of directors was elected. As the full quota of business was not completed, an adjourned meeting will take place on Monday, November 5, at the schoolhouse at 1 p. m.

The Red Cross workers are turning out quantities of the needed supplies. Are you a member? Why not come out and give an afternoon to "our boys" Tuesday and Thursday, 10:30 to 4:30, at the schoolhouse? Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Claffin will gladly welcome you and see you are kept busy.

The knitting class that meets on Monday at the home of Mrs. S. S. Thomas, "Cuddle Doon," are enthusiastic over the success of their efforts. Do you knit? If not, you can learn, and the boys of the navy are going to be cold.

The La Crescenta Woman's Club held its first meeting of the fall season on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Levy. Lots of business and many things will be started for the fall work now. Red Cross, Navy League, French orphans which they are keeping, and always the clubhouse fund.

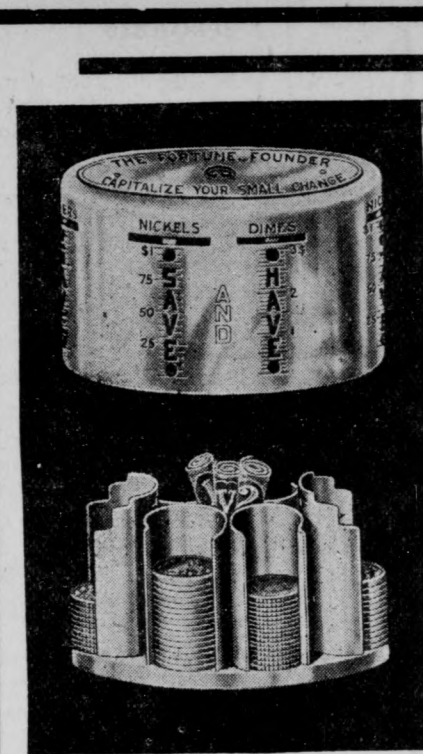

Mrs. L. Janvier and Miss E. A. Brown of Pasadena spent a few days at their Crescenta home.

Mrs. Charles Green will spend a few days in Riverside visiting her sister.

DECORATED WITH PLATES

One of the important apartments at the palace of Fontainebleau, in France, is called the Galerie des Assiettes, for the reason that its decoration consists of vertical rows of plates set in the paneling of the walls. These plates are very valuable, are made of porcelain, and upon them are painted scenes and views of many royal residences. The plates were placed there by the order of Louis Philippe.
